Mark Prondzinski

Co-founder, Chief Operating Officer

As a Co-founder of wellclicks and Chief Operating Officer, Mark leads the product development, operations, finance, information technology, legal, and security functions of the business. Along with Bob Stevens, Lisa Suchy, and the wellclicks Board of Directors, Mark crafts the vision, mission, and strategic direction of wellclicks and works with the wellclicks management team to secure investment capital for the company.

Prior to joining the wellclicks team, Mark began his career as a technology entrepreneur successfully launching three start-up ventures. At the age of 15, Mark founded PodisiNet Web Services, a professional web design and development firm that served a wide array of clients. He still performs freelance web consulting work in his free time. Using much of the knowledge Mark gained working as a web services consultant, Mark founded The Interactive CD Company, LLC. The Interactive CD Company designed multimedia promotional CD-ROMs for clients including International Multifoods (Pillsbury-division) and the ELCA National Youth Ministry Network. While attending college, Mark also founded First Alumni Networks LLC, a company that developed social networking software targeted at colleges and universities.

Mark earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management with a concentration in Entrepreneurship and Information Technology Management from Babson College in Wellesley, MA. Mark is an alumnus of the Babson College Honors Program, the Babson Entrepreneurial Exchange, and the Babson College e-tower.

Mark grew up in the Minneapolis/St. Paul area and currently lives in Eden Prairie, MN. He has a passion for baseball, football, and golf and plays baseball competitively with the Northwest Suburban Redhawks town ball team. He also enjoys listening to classical music, cooking a wide range of foods, and hiking in the boundary waters with his family.
