For Immediate Release

Local health and wellness event Saturday, October 24, sponsored by new online wellness company wellclicks.com, promotes connections with doctors and health and wellness providers.

Waconia, MN (October 14, 2009) – 11 local health and wellness providers are opening their doors to participate in next Saturday's event, the wellclicks@Wellness Hunt.

wellclicks, a new online health and wellness company, is sponsoring the Wellness Hunt for the Southwest metro cities of Chanhassen, Chaska, Eden Prairie, Excelsior, Victoria, Waconia and surrounding communities. The event is for anyone interested in exploring their local health and wellness options.

Fall represents a time when many settle back into routines which include the need to focus on health and wellness and schedule healthcare visits. On Saturday, October 24 from 10am to 2pm, wellclicks is promoting a tour of health and wellness for individuals and families. Interested in acupuncture? Want to get in shape? Need new glasses? Check out the local options in chiropractic, eye care, fitness, integrative medicine and more. It's important to find a healthcare provider you can feel comfortable with, and this event provides a chance to meet local providers face to face.

Individual choice is key when it comes to finding a provider. Dr. Sarah Peters of Body Awareness Chiropractic, a wellclicks customer, talks about the importance of individual choice: "I was excited to be introduced to wellclicks because it brings the power back to the people. When a person decides to take action for him or herself that is when the healing begins. Once someone is ready for change...the right match can be found by using wellclicks."

Go to the website to win $100 in wellclicks Wellness Bucks that can be used for services offered by healthcare providers on wellclicks.com. You also have the opportunity to win wellness services from participating organizations, and their locations are easy to find with the help of a printable map available on the website.

About wellclicks

In June 2007, Ridgeview Medical Center in Waconia, MN, made the founding investment in wellclicks. Ridgeview's President and CEO Robert Stevens wanted to create a concept that would empower consumers in their health care experience by helping them better navigate their health care options.

Co-founders Mark Prondzinski and Lisa Suchy created the wellclicks concept from a clearly defined market gap: the growing demand for health and wellness services along with a need for personalized connections to help consumers and providers find each other. wellclicks helps consumers navigate the local options and make searching simple.

wellclicks.com is a matchmaker, not a directory. The site helps you find health, wellness and fitness providers based on the qualities you are looking for. According to Lisa Suchy, co-founder of wellclicks, “Individuals have specific needs. Maybe you want to find a female primary care provider with 15 years of experience that specializes in allergies – we help make that connection. You can learn about her credentials, philosophy of care and personal interests on the website. With wellclicks, you get to choose.”
